STRIVING IN STARKE

WINNING VOTES FOR OCALA IN BRAD-FORD COUNTY

The visit of Carlos L. Sistrunk and the editor of the Star to Starke Saturday to talk capitol removal, considering the opposition of the elements, was a very successful and satisfactory trip. Arriving there in the afternoon we encountered a downpour of rain that proved a young cloudburst, which for an hour delayed our work. The rain subsiding, we started out. Mr. Sis-trunk met up with Mr. Futch, a rising young attorney of the town, and the son-in-law of Hon. Newton Blitch, of Levy county, who received us as old friends, took us to see Colonel Winwright, the affable and popular clerk of the court, who assured us that the court house was at our disposal and he would see that it was lit up.

We then had our dodgers distributed announcing the meeting and proceeded to distribute Ocala's "Wheel of Fortune," the Brick City's argument for the capitol site and found the town full of county folks, who received them graciously, promised to read them and assured us if the arguments convinced them, they would give Ocala their support, which many did as soon as the subject was broached, while quite a number assured us they were bent for Jacksonville and no argumentative train could sidetrack their intentions, while others said Tallahassee was good enough for them.

Attorney Futch kindly acted as chairman and introduced the speakers in very flattering terms and the audience, which was small at first, grew to respectable proportions as the meeting progressed.

Mr. Sistrunk's presentation of Ocala's argument was masterly, eliciting the closest attention and was warmly applauded.

NOTES

The opinion of those in a position to know is that the vote of Bradford county on the capitol removal question will be divided between the contestants.

The merchants of Starke were doing a rushing business, so busy that capitol removal cut no ice with them.

The rows of baled cotton on the railroad platform told the story of the crowd of country people in town and the volume of trade flowing into the merchants' store rooms.

Strawberries constitute one of Bradford county's large and remunerative crops, estimated at $100,000 a season.

Starke's commercial importance calls to its aid two banks, both of which are doing a fine business.

Starke boasts of two excellent local papers, the Telegraph and the Advocate, the former owned and edited by Gene Mathews, not so many years ago a Marion county printer's devil, then in his upward march to affluence and fame as editor of the Leroy paper and later the Dannelton Times, but whose expanding ambition sent him to larger fields to conquer, which he did by establishing himself at Starke, where, by strict attention to business and a high sense of civic responsibilities and honorable citizenship, he has not only won the confidence of the people of Starke and Bradford county, but official honors and emoluments and a standing in the community that stamps him as one of the leading and influential citizens.
His many friends in Marion county will be pleased to hear of Editor Mathews' success and tender their congratulations.

The editor of the Advocate, who was a stranger to us, met us on the street and gave us a cordial welcome.

After the speaking Attorney Futch and Professor Hercules, a few years ago principal of the Starke high school and one of the finest educators of the state, but now representing school book publishing houses, accompanied us to the hotel and entertained us until train time.

Among those we met at the meeting was Mr. Charles L. Livers, for many years railroad agent at Summerfield, and yet a resident of that place, but doing the telegraph work for the Air Line road at Starke.

We return thanks for courtesies extended and wish the enterprising people of Starke continued growth and prosperity.

AN IMPORTANT DIFFERENCE

To make it apparent to thousands, who think themselves ill, that they are not afflicted with any disease, but that the system simply needs cleansing, is to bring comfort home to their hearts, as a costive condition is easily cured by using Syrup of Figs. Manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, and sold by all druggists.

FOR SALE

IN THE CIRCUIT COURT

JUROR WILLIAMS EXPLAINS—SEN-TENCES PASSED ON THE TWO MY-ERS AND SAM JACOBS

Interest in court matters this morning centered in the hearing Judge Hocker gave Jurymen Theophilus Williams in the Jacobs murder case.

Mr. Williams made a statement to the court in questions propound-ed by his attorney, W. K. Zewadski.
He spoke of his feeling badly and getting laudanum for his troubles, but did not take it until after 11 o'clock, when the jury had rendered a verdict. According to his roommate, Jurymen Walker, he left the room about 4 o'clock the morning of the next day and, according to Mrs. Williams, his wife, arrived at his home in the Cotton Plant settlement about noon, on foot and looking very badly; that he ate little or no dinner and then ordered a horse and rode away and that night his son, Joseph, found him coming through the woods home. He went to bed and his son brought him to town next day. Mr. Williams seemed to know very little of what transpired for a day and it was very evident his mind was affected by the laudanum he took.

The following persons who knew Mr. Williams for many years testified to his good character and honorable and honest citizenship; that he would not be guilty, in his right mind, of any disrespect to the court or do ought to impair the verdict of a jury. Those who spoke for Mr.
Williams were H. W. Long, J. M.
Barco, General Bullock and Allen Langley. General Bullock said he knew Mr. Williams from his boy-hood days and he was a most exemplary and worthy man. In fact, the testimony was all in his favor.

The judge then said it was evident to him his absence was the result of a bewildered mind and released him.

Then R. A. Bullock asked for a new trial for Sam Jacobs, but was denied. He also plead for Robertson Myers' discharge, but the court refused that motion and also a new trial for Nic Myers. He then asked for arrest of sentence in Robertson's case so he could make an appeal to the supreme court. He was granted 70 days and the court said he would accept a very light bond in Robertson Myers' case, as he thought the verdict was of no account, yet preferred the supreme court should pass on it.

As Nic Myers' case will be appealed to the supreme court, a bond will be asked for him.

Judge Hocker then sentenced Nic and Robertson Myers, neither of whom had anything to say, as their attorney had fully covered the ground. Nic P. Myers, received twenty years at hard labor in the penitentiary, while Robertson was given five years.

Sam Jacobs was sentenced for life.
